Dear Counsel:

We received your communication relating to the TransPacific matter. We just received this issue late last week and are reviewing various Ninth Circuit decisions to determine if this is being handled correctly from the viewpoint of a class member and whether this office will be handling the process or if local counsel will be retained.

Until we have a chance to thoroughly read the terms of the settlement and the opinions approving the same, and to determine what the client's rights and responsibilities are, we cannot at this time intelligently advise the client or respond to your request to engage in informal discovery. We hope to respond by the end of the week.

J. A. Roth, Esq.
